Good Friends

Good Friends is a little co-working studio I've recently just opened up in Marrickville. At the moment it's just me and few creative friends sharing the space, but we've got a lot more room available.

We're going to begin opening the space to the public, and will need a website to show off the space, and some information.

I've created a little brand for the space, mainly comprising of a yellow and black colour scheme, paired with Cooper Lt Light. I'm also using a little handshake icon, and a dotted grid pattern in some places too.

Everything's kind of a work in progress so I'm happy to see how you could translate some of these elements into a website.

The website doesn't need to be too complicated, it should just showcase some brief information about the space and then push a user to get in touch with us. However, there's a lot of co-working spaces operating right now and we think that strong branding will seperate us from the competition.

I've attached our branding components, some photos of the space, as well as a quick mockup I made for the site. I'm not a developer so feel free to run wild!
